Commonwealth Rehabilitation Services (CRS)

CRS Australia is funded by the Commonwealth Government and is the largest provider of rehabilitation and injury management services in Australia. CRS delivers vocational rehabilitation services to people who have an injury, disability or health condition and assists people who have a disability or injury to get a job or return to their job. Services provided include assessments of clients to identify specific vocational barriers, individualised rehabilitation programs to overcome barriers, specialised job matching and placement and personal and career counselling.

If you are of working age (14-65 years old), have an injury or disability that makes it hard to gain employment or return to work and are likely to receive lasting benefit from a CRS program then you may be eligible to receive services from CRS. You do not need a Centrelink referral to make an appointment with CRS. Call 1800 624 824 or your local CRS office listed below to make enquiries. The CRS website can be accessed at <http://www.crsaustralia.gov.au/>

Supported Employment

Some people with disabilities, including those with high support needs, may find it difficult to obtain or maintain employment in the open labour market and may choose to seek employment with a business service. Business Services are funded by the Commonwealth Department of Families, Housing, Community Services and Indigenous Affairs to support people with disabilities in paid employment. They have a unique role as both employers and providers of employment support and have the potential to transition people to the open labour market.
